Agriculture, aquaculture, food and agro-industry in the Black Sea basin have a significant potential. However, the lack of strong and permanent trade links in these sectors can be considered a disadvantage for their development. The Bridges of Trade project is bridging the gap between buyers and sellers in agriculture and related sectors in five countries (Greece, Romania, Armenia, Moldova and Turkey), providing trainings in international trade to agricultural micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs), organizing events to match sellers and buyers and creating a transnational network of participating agricultural MSMEs and other stakeholders to ensure sustainability and transferability of project results.
