What about learning about business through practice? Considering the importance of bilateral cooperation in the field of education, the CBC-FeRoM project – implemented within the framework of the Romania – Republic of Moldova ENI CBC programme – aims at increasing the employability ratio of young people and at harmonizing their theoretical knowledge with practical skills. The final objective is to meet the economic needs of the job market. This is done through supporting quality education for the youth and facilitating access to targeted courses. CBC-FeRoM activities are inspired by the concept of learning through practice: students participate to simulations of real business operations and processes, they get more familiar with the business language and, as an expected result, they develop an entrepreneurial spirit. Moreover, two new learning platforms and a set of courses and laboratories are offered to students in the target areas.
