Romania-Republic of Moldova
ENI-CROSS BORDER COOPERATION

The project aims at ensuring the quality of solid biofuels from raw materials on both sides of the Prut River, winding through the Republic of Moldova and the Romanian counties of Botosani, Iasi, Vaslui and Galati. The State Agrarian University of Moldova and the Technical University of Iasi have established a partnership to progress in the theoretical research. They are also performing joint research activities concerning the development of solid biofuels from raw materials. This will not only lead to a better and cleaner environment but also encourage the economic development of the regions involved, benefitting especially companies producing solid biofuels, agricultural companies, wood processing enterprises.
