ENI-CROSS BORDER COOPERATION

Public safety during mass gatherings and demonstrations was outlined as a common challenge by the institutions of the national defense systems in Romania and the Republic of Moldova. The project aims to improve the level of preparedness and intervention of the partners' public forces structures involved in ensuring and restoring public order, as well as in preventing terrorist actions, including crowd control and security measures. Joint trainings, involving the staff of the partner organizations, took place in Iasi and Chisinau, and were followed up by the development of a "best practice guide" which includes lessons learned and methods of action in specific situations. The project also purchased special equipment to increase the intervention capacity of the public forces of both countries for restoring public order in the cross-border area.
